Thank you for your email.

My position has not changed since I wrote to someone else at your address recently.

I fully support the AWPR. I voted for the Murtle route in the mid 1990's as a local councillor and continued to support the route during the more recent consultations. There was nothing in the arguments put forward that persuaded me to change my view. The consultation was politically expedient to get the transport minister past the 2005 election and his successor made a decision to change the route in a rather opaque manner.

yours sincerely,

Brian Adam
